"Champaign County Farm Bureau will strive to assist families in agriculture by recognizing and responding to issues of concern while strengthening partnerships and improving farm family life for this and future generations."

Meet Kirk Builta, CCFB Foundation Director

By Lesley Gooding

Welcome back to a familiar face

around the Champaign County

Farm Bureau office, Kirk Builta.

Kirk is taking over the helm of the

Champaign County Farm Bureau

County Farm Bureau Foundation

are to deliver Ag Literacy programs through our Earth Partners

curriculum, and provide Champaign

County students scholarships to attend college in an agricultural field. This year's Harvest Gala

Planning for the 8th annual

Harvest Gala is in full swing and we hope to see many CCFB members, and others interested in these important causes, in attendance. We have a full list of unique live auction items ready for the auction and our board members are currently collecting silent auction items. We're planning a few other surprises and I know that this year's Gala will be one you won't want to miss it!

CCFB: What are the biggest challenge's facing the Foundation in the next few years?

Kirk: Our Foundation Board has a lot to be proud of! Over the past year we've welcomed an exceptional group of new Foundation Scholars, each receiving a $1,000 scholarship to help defray the ever increasing cost of education; while our Earth Partners programs have touched over 9,000 local elementary school students.

Today's average college graduate begins their career with a high amount of educational debt. Over the next few years we will be challenged by the growing number of students seeking assistance from our scholarship program. The needs of our local scholars are increasing and we will do our best to help students throughout Champaign County realize their dream of a college education.

Helping the Eastern Illinois Food Bank is easy with their new program "Invest An Acre". The process is taken care of by your local elevator. When you go to dump grain, just tell them how many bushels you would like to donate to the cause. For every $100, Monsanto is matching with another $100. ## Know Your GMOs With Nutrition Specialist Leia Kedem

The Champaign County Farm Bureau Women's Committee invites women of all ages to learn more about GMOs!

The CCFB Women's Committee invites you and your friends, family or neighbors to an evening of GMO education.

Paula Zwilling has lined up a speaker for the evening, Leia Kedem, a University of Illinois Extension Nutritionist.

"We are hoping to reach out to our urban counterparts, as well as our members, with a presentation of the whats, whys and hows of GMOs, followed by a question and answer session", says Zwilling.

Zwilling said, "This topic is such a hot button topic right now and there is a lot of misinformation out there about GMOs." "We are hoping to give ladies the basics so they can be better informed about genetic engineering and walk away feeling comfortable in talking about GMOs to their friends and acquaintances", says Zwilling.

The presentation will be a great event to tie into the theme of health awareness - a theme that the women created to better inform their membership and gain an understanding about healthier life styles and prevention.

The event will take place on Wednesday, October 28th at 6:30p.m.

The topics that will be covered include: - The basics of GMOs

 Consumption and labeling of GMOs - GM food crops & nutrition

Have You Signed?

The Illinois Farm Bureau (IFB) and the Champaign County Farm Bureau (CCFB) are supporting the Independent Map Amendment coalition, a group seeking an Illinois constitutional amendment to change the way state legislative districts are drawn.

CCFB Past President Lin Warfel points out three key differences regarding the current push to pass the Independent Map Amendment versus past attempts:

- The Illinois Farm Bureau Legal team has studied this proposition carefully and believes this amendment can pass legal muster as opposed to past attempts.
- A group of high profile lawyers, astute with constitutional law, went over the amendment with a fine tooth comb. These lawyers studied every detail and find it to be in compliance with the constitution. It will be tested, but it can pass!

The Federal Supreme Court passed and approved a similar amendment in Arizona. Illinois has studied the Arizona amendment and it has given Illinois strength with the submittal. "We are delighted the Illinois Farm Bureau has joined the fight for fairness in the redistricting process," said Dennis FitzSimons, Chair of Independent Maps. "Illinois farm families want a fair shake in Springfield and understand that the current way state legislative districts are drawn makes that more difficult. Last November, only one candidate was on the ballot in 60 percent of legislative

October President's Report

9/28/15

How much can happen in one month? September proved to be an extremely busy month for Farm Bureau. The month kicked off with Farm Progress

Show at Decatur. Illinois Farm Bureau kicked off their Centennial celebration of the organization with a special display and a photo opportunity for members as they came through the show. Activities to celebrate the 100 year event will continue through much of next year as 2016 marks the IFB Centennial and we will make you aware of opportunities to share in this momentous event.

Ag Education had a big month with the 20th and Final Ag In The Classroom Bike Ride Fundraiser being hosted by Champaign County for the 3rd time in the program's history. We were thankful for the opportunity to play such a large role in this particular fundraiser to support Ag Education over the years as the Bike Ride sunsets and the pursuit of other Fund Raising Event opportunities are explored. The Event raised in excess of $40,000 to support Ag In The Classroom programs around the state. Locally, Earth Partners had their first of 2 weeks of Programs at Parkland to educate 3rd graders from Champaign Unit 4 Schools about various aspects of Agriculture in Champaign County. Special thanks go out to all who had a part in these educational events to support Agricultural Education.

We continue to have challenges the state level as we operate without a budget. Thanks go out to Senator Chapin Rose for attending our September Legislative meeting and sharing his perspective of what is currently happening or not happening in Springfield. Other aspects where these challenges are becoming evident is in the announcement of potential reduction in Activities at U of I Ag Research Stations around the State and the loss of Insurance Coverage funded by the State to support Soil And Water Conservation Districts and employees. The gravity of this situation was made evident in last week's announcement that Illinois Director of Agriculture Phillip Nelson was resigning from that post after only 8 months in office. For any of you that have come in contact with Mr. Nelson as he was IFB President for 10 years, this gives an indication of the severity of the paralysis at the State level and the struggle to facilitate positive change in a very challenging political environment.

In reference to National Farm Safety week, we unfortunately had at least three different accidents that I was made aware within the county during the week. We are thankful though that no life threatening injuries we sustained in any of these events. The occurrences do prompt us to once again think about safety in everything that we do.

On a more positive note, know that as we are experiencing a more bountiful harvest than we expected, there is an opportunity to share some of that bounty. Invest an Acre is a program to support Eastern Illinois Food Bank through the contribution of bushels at your local elevator. The private contributions are also being matched by a corporate sponsor to make the program's benefits go further.

Consult your local elevator or CCFB office for details to get involved. I would like to close in thanking the CCFB board for their continued diligence and commitment in serving this county. It is reaffirming to witness dedication to public service at a time when we are witnessing extreme challenge in public service and government at the State Level.

- Eric Suits

CCFB: Do you anticipate any major changes? New events? Funding more scholarship?

Kirk: The Foundation board of directors hopes to grow both the Earth Partners and scholarship programs in the years ahead. To accomplish this we will need to be creative in making changes to current fundraising events while possibly establishing new programs. It's our goal to keep our programs fresh and exciting while increasing our ability to meet the demands of our scholarship recipients and Earth Partners initiatives.

CCFB: What would you like to accomplish as Director by this time next year?

Kirk: 2016 will mark the 30th Anniversary of the Champaign County Farm Bureau Foundation. I hope that as we mark this special occasion we are able to reconnect with past recipients in order to gauge the impact the Foundation has had over the past three decades while strengthening our ability to assist many more scholars in the future.

CCFB: We want the CCFB Membership to get to know you a little better. Can you give us a few fun facts about yourself that we might not know?

I'm an Illinois athletics fan and follow the Illini men's basketball team closely. I also follow the St. Louis Cardinals and Indy Car Racing having attended the Indianapolis 500 for over 20 years. Although I have absolutely no musical ability, if you stop by my office I'll most likely have the radio turned up - typically to a country station. I also enjoy traveling, taking time to explore new places and finding great local food.

Unity FFA Teaching Farm Safety

Jack Gady of the Unity FFA Chapter shows Unity West Elementary students the dangers of not wearing a helmet by dropping a melon on the parking lot.

Unity FFA students in cooperation with Carle put on an ag safety day for students at Unity West. FFA members taught students ATV safety and disability awareness. Students learned proper safety gear to wear while riding ATVs. In the disability group, students experienced some of the difficulties people experience when they are involved in accidents. Students learned what it is like to have missing fingers and limited vision.

There are many options available for SAE projects, this year the following Unity FFA members exhibited at the Section 17 FFA fair: Lindsey Decker, Cattle and Garden; Doug Hughes, swine; Calli Robinson, garden; Ryan Miller, rabbits; Michael Wetherell, Boer goats and poultry; Mikayla Wetherell, Boer goats and poultry; Dylan Terven, ag mechanics - welding and ag education; and Leah Gateley, garden and horticulture. The following students received best of show in their respected areas: Lindsey Decker, Doug Hughes, Calli Robinson, Dylan Terven, and Michael Wetherell. Through these SAE projects, students apply what they have learned in the classroom as they prepare to transition to college and explore career opportunities.

The proposed constitutional amendment would create an 11-member independent redistricting commission to draw legislative districts for General Assembly members. The commissioners would be selected at the same time of each federal decennial census, with the first commission appointed in 2021.

Champaign County Farm Bureau members can expect to see CCFB Legislative Committee members and other CCFB Board Members in the community asking registered voters to sign a petition in favor of redrawing legislative districts by an independent commission. The coalition's goal is to gather 600,000 signatures of registered voters by April 2016. ## Connecting Food to the Farm

Working in conjunction with Champaign Unit 4's Curriculum Coordinator, the Champaign County Soil and Water Conservation District and Parkland College, Earth Partners hosted 12 district schools last month. This event impacts over 900 3rd grade students, 40 teachers and multiple chaperones over the course of two days and educates them about agriculture, farming and conservation.

The groups of students rotate through nine stations to learn more about: tillage and conservation practices, rainfall simulator, tractors, planting and spraying, combines and technology, corn and shelling, grain distribution, soils and end products.

We utilize more than 48 volunteers to help educate the students and teachers. year's volunteers included: local farmers, Parkland College staff and students, Fisher FFA Officer Team, multiple agribusiness professionals, as well as Champaign County Farm Bureau and Foundation board members.

After visiting Parkland College and gaining this agricultural knowledge, teachers will refer back to this information in the classroom in October during a unit called, What Is On My Plate?. Throughout the unit, students will be asked to think critically and ask questions about where the food they eat comes from?

They will also look more closely at soil composition, observe particles by size and also develop a model soil profile. Teachers will also seek to broaden the student's level of understanding by comparing monocot and dicot seedlings. The students also read about technology on the farm and make an illustration of a piece of farm equipment that also includes how a farmer uses it on the farm.

GROWMARK Growing Forward

OSHA Process Safety Management for Anhydrous Ammonia Storage Tanks

GROWMARK is working closely with state and national associations to either extend the proposed six month deadline for compliance with the Process Safety Management (PSM) standards for anhydrous ammonia storage tanks or see that Congress can pass a provision to restore the exemption from PSM regulations ag retailers held since 1992.

GROWMARK and associations have held conversations with Congressmen discussing possible actions. In the meantime, GROWMARK's Environmental, Safety, and Insurance Services team sent this communication on training and assistance plans for PSM.

At the same time the federal PSM exemption was repealed, the Illinois Department of Agriculture is working to update the rules for anhydrous ammonia storage and use. GROWMARK requested in their comments that implementation of the proposed changes for the Illinois regulations be delayed until December 31, 2020, to allow time for retailers to address the PSM issue. That rulemaking process (including the implementation timeline for the proposed Illinois rules) has yet to be finalized.

Ag Coalition Sends Letter of Support for Highway Bill

A coalition of 28 agricultural organizations recently sent a letter to the U.S. House of Representatives in support of a highway bill. The group strongly urges the passage of multi-year surface transportation legislation that would provide adequate funding and greater certainty for infrastructure projects currently on hold. GROWMARK continues to work with our national associations to address some of the challenges our industry continues to face, especially as it relates to transportation.

September 11, 2015 NCFC Upcoming Event to Discuss GMO Labeling Legislation On October 7, the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives (NCFC) will be hosting a fly-In to discuss Genetically Modified Organism (GMO) labeling legislation with members of the U.S. Senate. GROWMARK will participate in the event representing Illinois agriculture.

The Safe and Accurate Food Labeling Act of 2015, H.R. 1599, passed the House in July and has been sent to the Senate. Senator John Hoeven (R-ND) is drafting legislation and plans to introduce his companion bill to the House legislation this fall supporting a federal preemption of state GMO labeling efforts.

GROWMARK supports establishing a voluntary federal food labeling standard for genetically modified ingredients to avoid a state-by-state patchwork regulations. Click here to view GROWMARK's fact sheet on H.R. 1599.

4R Code of Practice Launched by IFCA

The Illinois Fertilizer and Chemical Association (IFCA) has launched their 4R Code of Practice to minimize environmental impact, optimize harvest yield, and maximize input utilization. The concept of the 4R system is to apply and/or recommend the right source of nutrient, at the right rate, at the right time, and in the right place for customer's fields. IFCA is asking their retail members and crop advisers to "take the pledge" to support the principles in the 4R Code of Practice with their farmer customers.

On the new IFCA Keep it 4R Crop website, you can obtain additional information, review the principles of the 4R Code of Practice, and sign up to take the pledge. All companies who take the pledge will be visible on the website.

FS Financing Illini Ag Programs 2015 By Lesley Gooding

Looking for an Agri-Finance program to fit your needs? Vonnie Davis, Illini FS, is here to work with you. Vonnie is an East Central Illinois native, born and raised in Edgar County on a grain and livestock farm. Vonnie continues to live in Edgar County and covers the Illini FS, five county area, working with the agriculture industry to provide financing.

According to Vonnie, "Agri-Finance is a program that allows Illini FS to finance the products and services that we offer. It allows farmers to prepay for products and not pay for them until they sell that year's grain."

Several financing options are available to Illini FS customers.

- Cash rent and discretionary financing is available, so in most cases, the customer would not necessarily need an operating line at the bank.
- Take part in a reward program called "The Dollar per Acre" program which rewards loyal customers by buying down their interest rate by 1%-2% when they reach qualifying levels.
- A 0% Seed Program is available right now. This program runs from August 1, 2015 to December 1, 2015. Seed that is ordered will be at 0% until February 25, 2016, and then the loan can be paid by the customer, rolled to an interest bearing seed loan (4.75%) or rolled to a full-line loan (at approved rate). Both of those loans will mature March 1, 2017. So the seed doesn't have to be paid for until the grain is sold.
- Energy programs are available for those who purchase fuel, LP, tires, oils and lubricants and purchases at our Fuel 24 locations. These items can also be included in the full-line loan that covers all farm products and services. The variable rate for fuel loans is currently at 5.75%.
- Illini FS does have fixed rate financing for structures (grain bins and buildings) in the form of a loan or leasing options are also offered.
- Illini FS can provide leases The Illini FS Precision Farming for farm and commercial custom- department offers a wide range ers on buildings and grain bins of services to our customers. Our purchased through the Illini FS Construction Services depart- vide you with quality information ment. Leases can also be written to assist in your crop production for new or used farm equipment purchased other places from individuals and dealers. With a recommendations, or yield analylease, the payment is 100% tax sis and data management, we're deductible.

Financing programs are another way that Illini FS is trying to better serve their customers. For more information please contact Vonnie Davis at 217-722-7219 or

Matt Hoose

Agronomy Update Illini FS is gearing up for a busy harvest season. Toolbars are being installed on equipment and dryboxes are being put on machinery. Farmers are out cutting beans that are ready and switching back and forth to corn.

Matt Hoose, Illini FS Crop Insurance Specialist, has been visiting with clients in the field and has seen really spotty yields - really good yields to not so good yields. Matt said one client has "a variability of almost 80 bushels an acre in fields that are within 3 miles of each other." According to Matt, "Stalk quality remains to be a top concern. Stalks spread with fungicide seem to be holding up great. We are suggesting that if you didn't get your corn spread with fungicide to go out and get your crops as soon as you can. If we get a wet snap, stalks could start to go."

Have a sate harvest!
